Clinical pharmacology of vc-MMAE antibody-drug conjugates in cancer patients: learning from eight first-in-human Phase 1 studies

Abstract

A novel antibody-drug conjugate (ADC) consists of a monoclonal antibody (mAb) covalently bound to a potent anti-mitotic (DM1) or epidermal growth factor receptor-tyrosine kinase inhibitor (EGFR-TKI) via a linker. The objective of this study was to determine the PK and exposure-response relationship of DM1 or DM4 (ADC), against different agents and in diverse tumor models, using the first-in-human (FIH) dosing. PK parameters from the three analytes (anti-HER2-targeted ADCs), anti-EGFR-targeted ADCs, and anti-ErbB2-targeted ADCs, were determined across the eight ADCs. Relationships between adverse events were assessed in these regulations. Exposure-response relationships were explored with key PK indicators (e.g., exposure or peak concentration) and safety (i.e., geometric mean exposure). The profiles of the first- and second-generation ADCs were compared across all the eight ADCs. The impact of different tumor models on the regulatory requirements was evaluated. Differences in anti-EGFR activity and anti-HER2 activity were assessed through comparison with the tumor concentration/response for each of the ADCs, and the relationship between antibody and ADC activity was assessed. The multiplicity of adverse events and the safety and efficacy of each ADC were compared with the standard of care for each disease. The study results suggest that the combination of anti-EGFR and anti-HER2 could be a feasible approach to improve the clinical pharmacology strategy and enhance the early-stage clinical development.

Introduction

Antibody-drug conjugates (ADCs) are a novel class of therapeutic agents consisting of a monoclonal antibody (mAb) covalently bound to a potent cytotoxic drug (e.g., DM1 or DM4). The anti-tumoral activity of ADCs is mediated by the antibody component, which is internalized by the tumor cells, resulting in the release of the cytotoxic drug. The use of ADCs offers several advantages over conventional chemotherapeutics, including target specificity, reduced off-target effects, and improved pharmacokinetics.

ADCs hold promise in the treatment of cancers with limited options for traditional chemotherapy. They are designed to target and eliminate cancer cells selectively, thereby minimizing toxicity to normal tissues and reducing the risk of drug resistance. The development of ADCs has led to the discovery of new therapeutic strategies for the treatment of various cancers, including hematological malignancies and solid tumors.

CDA Advertising

Advertising standards

The California Dental Association (CDA) welcomes advertising in its publications and website. Such advertising must be factually accurate, dignified and aimed at contributing to the advancement of the profession of dentistry. CDA reserves the right to accept or reject advertising, at its sole discretion, for any product or service submitted for publication. Acceptance of advertising by CDA does not in any way constitute endorsement or approval by CDA of the advertised service or product, and advertisers may not make such claims in any way.

General requirements

1. All advertisements submitted for display in any CDA publication, website or mobile app are subject to review by staff and its advisors. Advertisers must submit ads by ad materials deadlines in order for materials to be reviewed by CDA staff. Every effort will be made to review artwork in a timely manner.

2. Advertisements must not be deceptive or misleading. Advertisements must clearly identify the advertiser and the product or service being advertised. All claims of fact must be fully supported and meaningful in terms of performance or any other benefit. CDA may require a sample or copy of any advertised product or a full description of any advertised service, and proof of the efficacy or reliability of any products.

3. Products and services must be germane to and effective and useful in the practice of dentistry, or of interest to dentists and their families. Products and services and their indicated uses must conform to principles of acceptable dental practice and of dental ethics. Alcoholic beverages and tobacco products are not eligible for advertising.

4. Advertisers must comply with all laws and regulations applicable to the manufacture, distribution and sale of a product or service. If it is CDA’s belief that an advertiser has not complied, then it shall be sufficient grounds for rejection of an advertisement.

5. Advertisements will not be accepted if they conflict with or appear to violate CDA policy, the CDA Code of Ethics or its Bylaws, or if the advertisements are deemed offensive or contain attacks of a personal, racial or religious nature.

6. Advertising for dental education courses designed to directly enhance the knowledge, skill or competence of the dentist will be eligible for publication only if the course sponsor has received “registered provider” status from the Dental Board of California under Title 16, California Code of Regulations, Section 1016.

7. CDA reserves the right to decline advertising for any educational course that involves the teaching or use of a product or technique that conflicts with CDA policy or is the subject of an unfavorable or cautionary report by a recognized dental agency. The eligibility of an advertisement for a course conducted by or under the auspice of an organization or commercial venture other than the American Dental Association, CDA or a CDA component will be determined on a case-by-case basis. Acceptance of advertisements for courses and education materials offered by commercial ventures and directed to the income of a dentist or to the commercial aspects of a dental practice will be reviewed for attractiveness, accuracy and dignity to determine eligibility.

8. CDA will not accept advertising for seminars, consultants or other educational programs that suggest, imply, promise or guarantee increased revenue (in dollar amounts) or specific numbers of new patients to a dental practice, that will occur as a result of attending the advertised program or seminar. CDA will not accept advertising that, in general, implies that the volume of a practice, either in income or in numbers of patients, may be increased at the expense of proper patient care. CDA will also not accept advertising that seeks information for, or in any way pertains to, class-action lawsuits.

9. Comparative advertising of dental products and dental services is not allowed.

10. Advertisements on behalf of insurers not admitted in California must comply with all California Department of Insurance requirements, including, but not limited to, California Insurance Code Section 1764.1, by prominently affixing in boldface 16-point type along the bottom of the ad that: “Insurance sold by this company is not regulated by the California Department of Insurance or the California Insurance Guarantee Association.” All insurance ads must meet California Insurance Code guidelines for advertising.

11. Placement of advertising with respect to employment, purchase or sale of a practice or the like will be at the discretion of CDA. Advertisements for employment must conform to all applicable anti-discrimination laws, rules, and regulations. In addition, CDA prohibits discrimination in advertisements toward an individual or group on account of age, sex, color, race, religion, ancestry, national origin, disability, medical or genetic condition, marital status, sexual orientation, citizenship, primary language, immigration status, lawful political affiliation, and country of training.

12. CDA will not accept advertisements that simulate editorial copy or advertorial copy that purports to provide information in a specialized field.

13. Advertisements must not quote the names, statements or writings of any individual, public official, government agency, testing group or other organization without their consent.

14. Advertising placements will not influence editorial copy. Editors have the final approval over content in CDA publications.

15. Advertisements for CDA Endorsed Services must also follow separate guidelines and review processes.

16. Advertisers agree to and are bound by conditions on CDA rate cards and CDA insertion orders.
